

In the Abstract:

On new page 10 following the claims, please insert the following abstract:

Abstract

An antenna arrangement for a portable communication device, and portable communication device including such an antenna arrangement are described. The antenna arrangement includes antenna patches that are configured to be connected to respective feeding potentials and include a variable capacitance feeding. The antenna patches are separated by a gap and have lengths approximately equal to each other.